

Concord has been a welcoming and caring community where I have witnessed the service-first mentality. Giving back to my community through thoughtful, inclusive decision making is important to me.

I have enjoyed jumping into my role as The Ward 4 City Councilor including going through the city budget, touring the fire stations, the police station, wastewater and water treatment plants, meeting with General services, taking a ride-a-long with Concord Police and meeting with Concord Coalition to end Homelessness. I am enjoying the challenges and opportunities to support positive changes and to provide a voice for issues and concerns keeping Concord a strong and vibrant community.

My work at the Crisis Center of Central New Hampshire started when I joined the board and volunteered on the 24 hr crisis line. Then I took a position as development director where I oversaw the organization's fundraising and managed relationships with community donors and sought out opportunities for financial support through grants and sponsorships. As campaign manager for Dan Feltes' successful senate race, I was able to use my organizational skills, knowledge of Concord, and creativity to manage a winning campaign.

My professional career experience as teacher and instructional coach, and a parent has provided me with a multitude of experiences to continue to make thoughtful decisions, listen and advocate for what's important. I want to support decisions that provide the best city services that impact all of Concord. We want to feel safe and have quality resources. Having access to high quality water, roads and bridges, a public library, sewer/garbage service, fire and police are extremely important. As a fellow homeowner and taxpayer, I want to make sure that we aren't overtaxed but still receive quality services.

Knocking on doors has given me a greater appreciation for the concerns and wisdom of my constituents. I will continue to be open minded, listen and learn from you. Being the voice of Ward 4 is being your voice, taking a stand, and being willing to change how I think about something. Your concerns are valid, let me continue to be the spoke in the wheel for Ward 4 and Concord.
