To my fellow Ward 5 and Concord residents:

My name is Stacey Brown and I'm running for City Council in Ward 5. I am not a politician, nor have I sought elected office before. I am down-to-earth and hard-working; helping to support my family during these unprecedented times. With this election, I am challenging myself, and going well outside my comfort zone, to serve our community and sincerely represent your interests to our local government. I believe that our government should be composed of ordinary citizens, and not by the same small group of people for decades at a time.

You should also know my background: I am a New Hampshire native and Army veteran, with experience as a teacher, intelligence officer, analyst and volunteer. I traveled the world serving my country, enjoyed success in very different fields, and then returned to my home state to raise my children with my husband in the beautiful city of Concord.

There are pressing issues facing Concord residents, and I am looking forward to bringing fresh energy and new leadership to the City Council. We must move with a sense of urgency and purpose, recognizing that there is no time to waste. There are multiple problems that need to be addressed simultaneously, to include expanding affordable housing, continuing the fight against COVID, maintaining public safety, and developing the city in a way that provides maximum benefit to the community. We need to work on all of these problems while also doing everything we can to address the climate crisis.

I believe that a City Councilor should be proactive in gathering information and expertise to solve problems, seeking out the input from community members who might not have the loudest voice in the room, the most money, or the most social connections. Everyone's voice matters.

I would be honored to serve as the Ward 5 City Councilor and I humbly ask for your vote on November 2, 2021.
