Road Load Limits in Concord Begin on Monday, March 11th

CONCORD, NH — The City of Concord will begin posting load limits to streets in Concord starting on Monday, March 11. Seasonal weight restrictions of 9 tons are posted on roads annually at the onset of spring to minimize trucking and protect roads from heavy commercial or construction vehicles during the spring thaw.

Restrictions will continue as long as conditions require. Load limits are dependent upon weather and road conditions, but will likely remain in place through the end of March or early April. Limits will not be removed until all snow has melted and ditches are clear of standing water.

Road structures are naturally weakened this time of year from the freezing and thawing cycles. Fluctuating temperatures can cause the ground to shift, leading to cracks in the pavement. Frost heaves are formed when snow and rain get through the cracks and freeze underneath the roads, expanding the road upwards. As temperatures warm, the ground thaws and the roads contract back down, causing breaks in the pavement and potholes.

The weight restrictions will help maintain road conditions as Concord General Services crews continue to patch potholes and make road repairs when possible. Residents can report potholes using the City of Concord's reporting tool at www.concordnh.gov/seeclickfix or on the MyConcordNH mobile app.
